Get Ideas for your Hamptons Home at the Go Green Expo and the Architectural Digest Home Design Show

Those of you who own a home in the Hamptons and those of you who would like to buy a Hamptons home would do well to attend the third annual Go Green Expo and the Architectural Digest Home Design Show. The shows will take place from March 19 to March 21 at Pier 92 and 94 at 55th Street on the Hudson. (Note that the Architectural Digest Home Design Show actually starts on March 18.) The fact that they are at the same time and in venues that are so close will give you the opportunity to take in both and get ideas for your Hamptons home.

The Architectural Digest Home Design Show will provide you with excellent ideas for every room of the house and for your yard and outdoor entertaining areas too. Attendees can also take advantage of complimentary designer consultations and go to seminars.

Yes, you hear everywhere that you need to 'go green,' and you may be wondering what exactly does that mean? Or you may have made some changes to your lifestyle that reduce waste and are looking to make more. If you are looking for ways to "go green" and incorporate eco-friendly products and habits into your lifestyle, take some time to visit the expo's more than 200 booths and exhibits. The Go Green Expo wants to introduce you to green products for many areas of your life—what you wear, how you eat, the gadgets you use and how you care for your pets. You will also find solutions to some of your questions about how you can 'go green'

The Go Green Expo boasts eco-aware celebs and activists Ed Begley, Jr., Mariel Hemingway and Matthew Modine as keynote speakers.

And just so you know, the Go Green Expo is committed to practicing what it preaches—organizers worked to get a zero carbon footprint and to limit the amount of waste that the expo produces.
