

DEBBIE WIENER'S BLOG

FINE FREE HAND RENDERINGS @ THE ARCHITECTURAL DIGEST HOME DESIGN SHOW

Posted by dwblog . Published on 20 March 2010

Today we had a chance encounter with an artist. What seemed at first a potentially onerous proposition, turned into a bit of a fantasy delight in drawing. Martin Russocki, a native Torontonian, moved to NYC and has since been engaged in the craft of rendering. With a line that includes portraits, renderings and nudes, he creates art work that seamlessly fits into your rooms. We think our great William Wegman fabrics would like fantastic in a room with his landscapes... but that's just us, you'll have to see for yourself.

He also creates a variety of interesting sculptures and can commission pieces for your home. To see more of his work, look here: .