

ECO DEAL OF THE DAY – GO GREEN EXPO

by Maureen @ 10:15 am | comment »

Put on your most comfy walking shoes, head on over to NYC's Pier 92 (W.55th St & West Side Hiway) today or tomorrow and check out some great new ways to go green.

I attended the event yesterday and ran into some good pals, Celeste and Andrew of RestoreClothing, who were turned on by the Heng ping pong table; and one of my favorite finds of the day was Premium Aquascapes. Their Rain Water Harvesting System enables you to capture, filter and reuse rainwater for watering your garden or lawn, or provide a clean water source for wildlife and a beautiful “pondless” waterfall. We're heading over there again today to catch Ed Begley, Jr's live presentation at 12:30noon. Mariel Hemingway will be making a presentation there tomorrow at 12:30.

Go Green Expo provides an easy way to experience, first-hand, innovations in healthy, eco friendly living. Visit gogreenexpo.com for details. Perk: use code GGENYC for discounted tickets – only $10 for the weekend and it includes complimentary admission to the Architectural Digest Home Design Show located next door, (normally $25). Don't forget to bring a reusable bag to stash samples, etc.