

Kirsh selected for NYC Architectural Digest Show

BOZMAN — Local landscape designer and sculptor Jan Kirsh has been selected to exhibit at the prestigious Architectural Digest Home Design Show, held March 26 to 29 in New York City.

Kirsh's fruit and vegetable indoor/outdoor sculpture will be on display in the show's MADE section, a juried selection of limited-edition and one-of-a-kind fine art objects, decorative arts and furnishings.

A landscape designer for 26 years, Kirsh returned to her fine arts background when she began sculpting fruits and vegetables in 2004.

She employs a variety of media, such as bronze, marble, resin and polished concrete, and the sculptures range from inches tall to oversize.

Each design has the flexibility to be displayed indoors as well as outdoors.

Kirsh continues to add to the collection, with a fig, peach and grape cluster currently underway in the studio.
