

March 18-21, 2010 is the Architectural Digest Home Design Show in NYC and this show is open to the public. If you are in the NYC area, take the opportunity to visit with the many Eco Furniture Designers that will be present. We look forward to being at the show and reviewing eco trends.

There will also be some great workshops with an eco focus and you can meet with Interior Designers. Now is a great time to ask about eco furniture lines, sustainable products and environmental design projects for your home.
